IT SCREAMS! Whitesburg, Kentucky, Thursday, February 22, 1962 Vol. 54, No. 41 10¢

REWARDED FOR SERVICE--W. L. Cooper (left), formerly of Letcher County, was honored twice Tuesday for a long life of public service. At noon, members of the Whitesburg Rotary Club gave him a plaque in recognition of his career as a "distinguished Rotarian, educator and builder of youth." In addition, he received a commission as a Kentucky colonel on the nomination of Sen. Archie Craft. Both were presented at the Rotary meeting by Jack Burkich (right), a long time friend of Cooper. Tuesday night officers of Graham Memorial Presbyterian Church honored Cooper with another plaque presented for his service to the church as a minister and a youth leader. Dr. B. C. Bach and Paul Vermillion spoke in praise of Cooper at the presentation, made at a meeting of the church men's group. Cooper, a Presbyterian minister, was superintendent at Stuart Robinson-Highland School, Blackey, from 1925 to 1957. He and his wife moved a few weeks ago to Graham, N. C., their former home.

School officials hope adult enrollment grows

Adults interested in learning to read and write and those who want to improve their skill in reading, writing, arithmetic, English and spelling can do so by taking advantage of special courses offered by the county school system.

But immediate action is necessary for those who wish to enroll in the classes.

Meetings to organize the class work will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7 p. m., at the Letcher School Library, the Whitesburg High School, the Fleming-Neon High School Library and the Kingdom Come High School. Meetings at all four schools are set for 7 p. m.

Persons unable to attend those organizational meetings should contact the high school principal in their area within the next few days.

Kendall Boggs, assistant county school superintendent, said it is the hope of school officials that enough interest will be shown in the adult education that the school system will feel justified in offering a sufficient variety of classes to meet needs both on the el-

The Kentucky legislature late Wednesday gave final approval to a bill which creates a system of community colleges, including one in the "Blackey-Hazard area."

The bill received final passage in the Senate with only two votes against it; the House passed it last week.

This is the bill which Letcher County residents hope will result in the establishment of a two-year college on the old Stuart Robinson School campus at Blackey.

The Board of Church Extension of the Presbyterian Church in Atlanta has offered to donate the land and buildings at Stuart Robinson for use as a junior college.

Hazard residents have been pushing to get the college set up in their city, but Letcher County residents feel the Blackey site will be chosen.

The bill does not designate any order for establishment of the new schools, but it lists the locations in this order: Prestonsburg, Blackey-Hazard, Hopkinsville, Somerset. Each is to be established as funds are available, the bill said.

There is no money in the two-year budget passed by the legislature for the colleges, but Gov. Combs has said they can be set up by issuing revenue bonds.

The measure which the legislature approved originated in the House but was identical to the Senate bill sponsored by Sen. Archie Craft of Whitesburg and others.

The bill provides that the colleges shall be administered by the University of Kentucky through its board of trustees.

In addition, each college shall have a local advisory board of seven members to be appointed by the governor.

The bill provides for conversion of University extension centers at Covington, Cumberland, Ashland, Henderson and Elizabethtown to community colleges.

Letcher parents organize citizen school group

Nearly 100 parents of pupils in the Letcher school area have banded together "to insure equal educational opportunities for all children."

The group is headed by Tommy Wardrup, president; Tom Dixon, vice president and Jack Niece, secretary and treasurer.

It is known as "United Citizens Education Association."

Members of the association, in announcing the adoption of their charter this week, were quick to point out a provision in the charter that "at no time shall they become involved in politics."

Wardrup said he had heard rumors that the association was formed to fight the Letcher County Board of Education. He said that is not so, that the members want to work with the school board for better schools for the lower end of Letcher County. The association was formed after some of the persons who are now TEACHING CRAFTS--Miss Carolyn Shrock (left), Eastern Kentucky resource development specialist from Quicksand, and Miss Phyllis Bolling, Letcher County Home Demonstration Agent, show women attending a class in rugmaking at Blackey the type of hooked rug which will sell on the retail market. The two women are helping to teach others to make rugs for sale under the auspices of the new Lonesome Pine Craft Guild. Ten more women joined the class at its meeting last week. Nola Back of Elk Creek, a teacher at Blackey, worked with the women this week to help them transfer designs to cloth ready for hooking. The project already has paid off for Curt Cornett of Blackey, who has made 13 rug frames at $3 each and has a promise of more orders from Miss Shrock, who is serving a 32-county area. The used clothing store at Stuart Robinson School has sold 54 wool coats to the rug class and an undetermined number of wool skirts and dresses. The Lonesome Pine Craft Guild is the first project established in Letcher County under Kentucky's new arts and crafts program. (Eagle photo).

Jenkins getting ready

Like women everywhere, the women who run the Jenkins Public Library can't stand to have company without cleaning house.

And, in fact, the library women are going even further--they're moving to a new house before the visitors arrive.

The company in this case is a group of distinguished literary figures and other dignitaries who will come to Jenkins next month to take part in ceremonies honoring the library as the outstanding small library in the United States.

Specifically, the library will formally receive the Dorothy Canfield Fisher award, given each year by the Book-of-the-Month Club in honor of author Fisher, who was a member of the club's Board for many years. The award is in the form of a check for $5,000 to be used to buy new books for the library.

After the announcement of the award last month, the Jenkins library received another present in honor of its winning--new quarters. Work is now under way to put new shelves into the modern building on Main Street formerly occupied by a gift shop which moved to King'sport several years ago. When the shelving and some painting are completed, the library will move in. The new location is just a few doors away from the building where the library is now housed.

The new quarters and the redecorating are the gift of an anonymous donor, according to Miss Clara Shaw, chairman of the library board of directors.

For weeks, members of the Jenkins Woman's Civic Club, which operates the library as a community service, have spent every spare minute dusting books, covering them with plastic jackets and generally preparing for moving day.

The final final deadline is Saturday, April 7, for the next day the women will hold an open house at the new library quarters after the ceremonies presenting the award, and will display some of the books they have bought with their prize.

Sunday, April 8, when the festivities are set, is the first day of National Library week.

John Mason Brown, a Louisville native who has distinguished himself as an author, lecturer and critic, will be the principal speaker. Sen. Archie Craft will serve as master of ceremonies, and Gov. Bert Combs and Miss Margaret Willis, director of the state Division of Library Extension, will speak briefly. Harry Scherman, chairman of the board of the Book-of-the-Month Club, will present the check and a plaque to be kept permanently in the library. Miss Shaw will accept the award.

The program will begin at 2 p. m. in the Jenkins High School auditorium.

Jackets-to start tourney play

Whitesburg and Kingdom Come will meet in the opening game of the 58rd district basketball tournament here next Thursday night.

Dunham and Letcher will play in the second game. Jenkins and Fleming-Neon each drew a bye for the first round.

Jenkins will play the winner of the Whitesburg-Kingdom Come game Friday night in the first game, and Fleming-Neon will

Editorial

IF YOU KNOW AN ADULT WHO CAN'T READ OR WRITE, WON'T YOU TELL HIM ABOUT THIS RARE OPPORTUNITY?

A special adult education program being organized by the county school system gives Letcher County residents a rare opportunity to go back to school—whether their interest be simply in learning to read and write or in advanced study on the high school level.

Anyone in Letcher County who does not have a high school diploma presumably could find some subject matter of interest to him and even those persons with high school or college degrees could enroll for specialized courses to fill in the gaps from their regular school days.

The fact that more than 100 adults responded this past week to the offer and said they would like to take typing or other business courses is encouraging. But we'll be falling far short of the program's potential if we set up a few business courses and stop there.

We don't know how many persons there are in the county who can neither read nor write. Estimates are that there are 8,000,000 persons nationally without this basic skill, so it stands to reason several hundred are here. These classes may well be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for this group.

If you know of someone who can't read or write, or who has only limited reading ability, why not tell him about the classes? One of the handicaps of not being able to read is that you can't pick up a copy of a newspaper and learn that you could be taught. This means that to a large extent, word of the classes will have to be spread by word-of-mouth.

Surely no one who reads needs to be convinced the knowledge is worthwhile. But convincing some of our parents or older friends not so blessed may be something else.

We can think of few things that give more sustained pleasure and delight than this business of reading. Why not pass the word along to a neighbor?

Teen-ager speaks members visited the school board's February meeting and talked with board members concerning an athletics matter at the school.

Since the first meeting Feb. 7 the UCEA has been meeting each Wednesday at the Blair Branch Church. It has asked permission of the school board to use a school building, but the board will not decide until its meeting next Thursday. Wardrup said 69 persons attended the last meeting. The association hopes for a membership of about 125. Meetings are open to the public, but membership is open only to those school patrons in the "lower end" of the county. Wardrup defined the lower end as the territory on the Hazard side of Sandlick Mountain.

Here are the purposes of the association, as set out in its charter:

"It is the unanimous consent of all members of this club, that at no time shall they become involved in politics. Our sole purpose is to work for a better school system for the boys and girls of this county; to organize civic-minded citizens into a cooperative and unified club; to seek equal representation for our schools and school children.

The objects of this club are: To create and foster a spirit of cooperation among the citizens of the lower-end of Letcher County.

To take an active interest in the development and welfare of schools in our area.

To provide a forum for the full and free discussion of all matters relating to our schools.

To provide equal opportunity to any individual or group to appear before this club to express their views for the betterment of education.

To obtain a gymnasium for Letcher High School.

To work for a Junior College located near Blackey, Ky.

To strive for a school system completely divorced from local politics.

To insure equal educational opportunities for all children.

To encourage wise and careful spending of tax money in our schools.

To work for equal bus service for all students.

agers of today, want to clarify what we are really like.

Think back! How many times have you, meaning adults, said, "These teenagers of today are not what they use to be?" Yes we are! I disagree with anyone who says teenagers today, and the ones of past years are really different. Sure the society has changed, styles come and go, our social living is different; but basically, the morals and ideals of us teenagers are the same as they were.

Are you one of the people who say "The Twist" is vulgar? Well look at it this way; to us, twisting is a dance, a means of expression for our fun, and due to the fact a lot of you adults call it dirty, makes me think, What were you trying to do when you were young? I'm sure there were lots of dances that could be called more vulgar than "The Twist." We mean nothing immoral or dirty, we just have fun and fun is essential to living.

To you, some of our music is disgraceful. "Not fit for a dog." I think is the expression used. We enjoy it, otherwise it wouldn't be where it is today.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH PAINTED

Attendance at Presbyterian Chapel Sunday was 96. We would like to thank everyone who pitched in to help paint and clean the Tolliver Town School Building so that it might be used for Sunday School.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Day were pleased to have visiting them over the weekend their son Erceell B. Day and Mrs. Day of Gallopise Ohio.

We in the community wish to express sympathy to the family of Junior Johnson. Mr. Johnson passed away last Wednesday morning at Johnson City Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. John Lucas is very ill in Memorial Hospital, Whitesburg. Her daughter, Mrs. Morrell Pennington (Katherine), Mrs. Pennington and children of Louisville, visited over the weekend.

Miss Mattie Hart was ill Monday evening and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mullins and boys did a lot of galavating around last week. They visited in Cleveland, Ohio with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holbrook and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mackie Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tackett, Dayton, Ohio, they visited Irene's sister, Mrs. Daisy Sexton and family.

Glad to see Pete Hall able to be out and around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Broome and girls are moving into a house owned by Alvin Kincer in Haymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Fox and children spent Sunday visiting Mrs. Fox's mother Mrs. Landon Bentley and Mr. Bentley.

Mrs. Oordelia Church is visiting Mrs. Myrtle (Sis) Tolliver.

Virgil Allen is home from his job in Indiana. Virgil is the owner of a new diesel truck.

As I said Society changes and with it we must also, just as styles of clothing change. You enjoy the music of your day, so let us enjoy ours.

We are simply trying to grow up, to take our places in the world. There is a great gap between childhood and being an adult. The step in between brings teenagers.

Most of us teenagers are a clean decent group of kids who are trying to learn to live with adults, in an adult world.

You hardly ever see or hear good news or something that a teenager does that makes progress, but I guarantee, let one of us do a little something wrong and its spread across every newspaper in the state. Most of the bad things are due to the family or community. We go off the "deep end" because of our problems, that cannot be solved without help, and if you adults don't understand, who are we to turn to?

So instead of just saying we're bad and not like you use to be, don't turn us away. Let us bring our problems to you and maybe then you'll understand what our intentions are.

Be a pal to us as well as a mother or father, and then I'm sure you'll also enjoy the things that are essential to us in growing up and being an adult.

Thank you,
Betty N. Gilliam,
Mayking, Ky.

COOTS HITS FOR 31 POINTS AS JACKETS TAKE MEASURE OF DILCE COMBS 63-54

By JERRY TOLLIVER

Jerry Coots, a junior guard, hit for 31 points for Whitesburg on 14 field goals and three free throws as the Jackets topped the Dilce Combs Panthers 63-54 at Whitesburg Tuesday night.

He had seven points the first half and collected 24 during the second half.

The Yellowjackets outrebounded Combs 56-36, and it was a good thing because Whitesburg just shot 32 per cent while Combs shot 41 per cent.

The score was tied at the end of the first quarter at 11 all, but Combs went ahead 27-25 at half time. Whitesburg came back in the third quarter and went ahead of Combs by 46-40.

Jerry Coots led all scorers with 31 points. J. D. Jones got 13, Kenneth Frazier had 9, Kyle Raleigh and Wilgus Sturgill each got 4 and Jimmy Stamper had 2 points.

For Combs Mink got 16, Couch got 11, Alexander, K. Combs and G. Combs all had 7 points, Cornett had 4 and Engle collected 2 points.

Whitesburg lost a very good Carr Creek five 66-56 in a make-up game here Monday night. The Yellowjackets hustled and fought for the rebounds and played good defense but they couldn't match the Indians. Whitesburg shot about 29 per cent while Carr Creek hit about 43 per cent of their shots.

Whitesburg led at the end of the first quarter by 14-12 but Carr Creek jumped ahead of half time by 37-34. Carr Creek continued to build their lead as they led at the end of the third quarter by 51-43.

Jerry Coots turned in a fine game as he led the Jackets with 20 points. Kenneth Frazier had 12, J. D. Jones got 10, Jimmy Stamper and Wilgus Sturgill each collected 5 points and Kyle Raleigh had 4 points.

Lewis Couch led Carr Creek with 17 points, William Fannin had 16; Joe Couch scored 13; Tommy Reynolds had 9; Calhoun had 6, and Glen Combs scored 5 points.

Lily, the top team in the 12th Region, proved their ability in beating Whitesburg 61-49 here Friday night. Whitesburg was only in the game in the first quarter when they were behind by only 5 points, 12-7. After that it was Lily all the way.

The Jacket first team only played three quarters because of their poor showing. The B-team finished the game.

In individual scoring Jimmy Stamper led the Jackets with 11 points, Kyle Raleigh had 7, Steve Frazier got 6, Kenneth Frazier got 5, Billy Sexton, Jerry Coots, J. D. Jones, Wilgus Sturgill and Mike Adams all collected 4 points.

For Lily Taylor led all scores with 19 points, Johnson had 16; Sargent had 8; Evans and McIntosh both got 6 points; Smith got 4 and McKnight scored 2 points.

ementary (beginning) and high school levels.

Boggs said officials were somewhat disappointed in the turnout last week for the first organizational effort. Although some 150 persons came out and said they wanted to enroll, those persons were on the high school level. Only four or five of the group were interested in beginner reading and writing.

Boggs expressed fear that persons who don't know how to read or write, but who desire to learn may not have received word the special classes are planned. He urged readers of The Mountain Eagle to pass the word along to persons who can't read, so that they may know the program is being offered.

Boggs said there was a fair turnout of persons interested in business classes, enough to assure that typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping will be offered by some or all of the high schools.

Letcher High School reported 23 adults interested in typing, 15 in bookkeeping, 11 in shorthand, four in American History, two in English, and one on the elementary level.

Fleming-Neon had 24 persons wanting to take beginners typing, 9 advance typing, 10 bookkeeping, four English, and two in science.

Whitesburg had 22 persons interested in typing, 13 in bookkeeping, one in mathematics and one in learning to read and write.

This turnout, Boggs said, is enough to assure that adult typing classes will be taught at Letcher, Fleming-Neon and Whitesburg, with advance typing probably to be offered at Fleming-Neon. Interest also appears sufficient for classes in bookkeeping at Letcher, Fleming-Neon and Whitesburg, and for shorthand at Fleming-Neon, Boggs said.

Letcher is one of a dozen Kentucky counties selected for the adult education program, which is federally-sponsored. Boggs said that under the program, special classes can be organized and conducted in almost any subject, so long as at least 10 persons are willing to enroll per class.

POLLUTED WATER CAUSES HEPATITIS

Polluted water is thought to be the cause of most of the 2,000 cases of infectious hepatitis reported in Kentucky last year, Dr. Russell E. Teague, Commissioner of the State Health Department, has reported.

"Many of the hepatitis cases were traced directly to unsanitary water supplies," he said. Dr. Teague, speaking at the eighth annual water and sewage plant operators' school at the Health Department here, added that Kentucky has made tremendous strides since 1935 in fighting the pollution problem.

"The thing we must do now is close the gap between what we know and what we are doing," he said.

He pointed out that people now have a tendency to feel that the problem of infectious diseases has been solved because typhoid and dysentery are no longer prevalent. But, he said, they overlook the pollution factor involved in the hepatitis outbreak.

HOUSECLEANING TALK BEGINS; PERHAPS QUILTING ISN'T LOST ART AFTER ALL

By MABEL KISER

Spring is just around the corner. I know for I hear the ladies talking house-cleaning talk.

Maybe at long last our mail-carrier, Willard Fulton will have a new road between Millstone and Democrat. The Bethlehem Steel Co. is building a road to a water tank they have near the top of the hill on left hand fork of Millstone. They say if the county will help them they will help build a road across the hill down Indian Creek to Highway 7.

Visiting with Mrs. Bob Newsome this week end were her daughter, Mrs. Freddy Baker (Alice), and children, Frederick Wayne and Sarah Elizabeth, and Mrs. Baker's friend, Herma Lou Hopkins, an employee of Baker Funeral Home. Mr. Baker is director of Baker Funeral Home, Pikeville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Taylor Jr. motored to Pittsburgh, Pa. first of this month to see Mrs. Taylor's brother John Cecil Newsome and family. They were accompanied to Columbus, Ohio by Mrs. Raymond Taylor, Thornton, to see Mrs. Taylor's daughter, Brenda, who underwent surgery recently in Columbus. Brenda is doing fine and they all reported a nice trip. Mrs. Ben Taylor said she was sorry to leave her brother and family in the big city.

Who can comfort better'n grandma? Mrs. Maggie Mason is home after visiting her ill grandson Ricky Mason in Cleveland. Most of Mrs. Mason's children are in Cleveland; Mrs. Hilmer Cox (Ruby), Mrs. Prince Holcomb (Carrie), and Mrs. Bill Storms (Bernice). They were about all sick with flu while Mrs. Mason was up there.

Conrad Fulton has rebuilt his home, a large 3-bedroom with full basement in Colton, Ohio which was recently destroyed by fire.

I am very glad to take back what I said about quilting being a lost art. Seems our young mothers are very much interested. Several friends of Julia Wright enjoyed quilting at her house while waiting for one of Julia's good dinners. They were Mrs. Sarah Quillen, Mrs. Nannie Meade, Mrs. Florida Hall, Mrs. B.F. Bentley, Mrs. Rose Martin, and Mrs. Cinda Cook. The conversation was very different than when I was a girl. Then we didn't talk of astronauts, and our conservation on the moon was limited to when the signs were to plant beans.

Our deepest sympathy to the family of Arlie Hall, Neon, who died in Detroit this week.

William Ermel Likins, formerly of Millstone tells us he has purchased a three-bedroom ranch type home in Laporte, Ind. Laporte is about a 10 minute drive from Michigan City. The Likins have three sons, Ray and Darrell are in junior high and little Sanford is in first grade.

The new lunch room program is underway in Middle Millstone School. Each child brings his own paper plate and for ten cents receives a well balanced lunch, including milk.

Jim Baker is out of the Pikeville Hospital and doing fine.

A.C. Sergeant, who was principal of Middle Millstone School so long is now in Bedford, Ind. They have just moved into a three bedroom home with all modern conveniences. Mrs. Sergeant still has her garden too. Their children are all gone but the three youngest girls. Janet is a senior, Janice is a sophomore and Dora Jane graduates from the eighth grade. Archie and wife (Mary Lou Webb) and two children live in Detroit. Virginia and her husband Tony Lapiolalive in Idaho. They have three boys. Thelma is one of our teachers here at Middle Millstone School. Ben and wife and baby are in Detroit. Harold is married, lives in New Albany, where he is head stock boy in the A & P there. Mr. Sergeant, if you read this, all former students have said to me "I didn't know I like Mr. Sergeant then, but I do now."

Our hearts go out to the family of Junior Johnson, who died in Veteran's Hospital in Johnson City, Tenn.

Guests of the John Crafts this week were her niece and her sailor husband, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Adams from Maryland. The Adamses also visited sailor Adams's parents, the Brazilla Adams, Mayking.

Mrs. Milton Davis tells us her sister Mrs. Herman Stidham's baby, who recently had pneumonia in Hazard is out of the hospital and is doing fine.

Claude Meade, Fleming school bus driver, has been called back to his job in Cleveland. Henry Toyler will drive the bus. Ray Meade and his wife accompanied his brother to Cleveland.

Willard Fulton's daughters called this week from far away places. Mrs. Jeane May from Eau Gallie, Fla., her sister, Mrs. Rosa Sharrome from Cleveland. How nice to hear them speak.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sexton and baby James Elmer, Louisville, spent the week end with his parents, the Flex Sextons.

Miss Myrtle Collier attended the funeral of Mrs. Prindle Quillen, Neon, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Reynolds and Jesse C. Holbrook, Kona, drove to McDowell Sunday to visit with Mrs. Bertha Turner. A good dinner and a good visit was enjoyed by all.

Guest this week of the L.L. Johnsons were Mr. Johnson's brothers, Frank and children, Charles and children, Virgil, his wife and baby, all from Columbus. They were here for the funeral of Junior Johnson. Also visiting the Johnsons from Jackson was their daughter, Buelah and her daughter, Theresa.

Sol Taylor, who left here some time ago with his family, lives in Fort Wayne, Ind. Sol drives a large transfer truck, he is now on a trip to Florida. Mrs. Taylor is the former Sue Johnson. They have two daughters.

Visiting with Enoch and Miss Myrtle Collier this week was their much traveled grandson and nephew, Irvin Potter, his lovely Italian wife and two children from Fort Rucker, Ala. Sgt. Potter is in the Army and is being sent to France. This is Mrs. Potter's fifth trip across the Atlantic. Son Patrick, born abroad, will be crossing five times too. Daughter Caroline, born in Ft. Belvoir, Va. will make her second crossing. Little Patrick, eight or nine years old, can speak Italian, German, English of course, and in France, he will be taught to speak French. Sgt. Potter is the son of R.V. Potter and the late Mrs. Hattie Collier Potter. Mrs. Potter died when Enoch Irvin was small. Sgt. Potter has been in the Army several years, having spent three years in Japan, two in Korea and three in Germany.

Want a suntan? You don't have to use lotions, just stand awhile in the warm winds we are having.

The Ben Franklins attended Regular Baptist Church Sunday. Maryland Bates has just returned from a visit to daughter Mrs. Virgil Berry (Rachel), Covington.

T.R. Collier, Thornton, was calling on the Ben Franklins Sunday afternoon.

Uncle Alex Proffitt, who has been ill with flu, is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Proffitt, Sr. their son Conrad, his wife and baby have gone to Cleveland for an extended visit with their children. They will go on to Flint, Mich. to visit son Willard.

Mrs. Rose Cook Martin spent Saturday night with her parents-in-law, the Sherd Martins. The Martins and Rose attended Mayking Church Sunday.

A former Millstoner Willie Holcomb was visiting friends here this week. He spent the night with the Claude Collinses. Holcomb has sold his home in Cherry Fork, Ohio and bought a home in Middletown, Ohio and is now running a service station. Last week Claude Collins made a business trip to Frankfort.

When you read this the cobit around the earth will of course be history. Each of us were busy with our thoughts as we watched and listened to his flight. My thoughts went back to my grandfather's yoke of oxen. I thought of what changes my grandchildren will probably see. The fast change in our time was brought home to me some time ago when I tried to explain to my oldest grandchild how we make homemade butter. He just couldn't understand.

The strange car in this neighborhood belongs to Wayne Brown. He has traded his truck for a pretty car.

Also the 1960 Corvair that was parked at Salt's Brown's Saturday belongs to her granddaughter, Nina Mac, and husband, James Caudill, of Camp Lejeune, N.C. They made a very short visit home to show off their new baby, Sheri Lynn. They also called to see Lee and Maria Fields of Letcher, Jo Ann and Carlos Dixon and the Joe Collins family of Ulvah. Their visit was too short, but they will return in March to stay. If James doesn't re-enlist.

Aunt Hattie Dixon and Arlie Caudill visited Barbra and Polly Ann Caudill Monday.

E-Bond sales here more than double goal for county

Letcher County set something of a record on the sales of Series E and H Savings bonds during calendar year 1961, the Treasury Department reported today.

Bond sales totaled $605,078 during the year, more than double the $257,850 set as the county's official goal by the Savings Bond Division. Sales exceeded the goal by 234.6 per cent, giving the county a ranking of third among the state's 120 counties in this measure of effort.

The $605,078 sales total gave Letcher County a ranking of 14th in savings bonds sales. Letcher's total purchases was exceeded only by Harlan, Boyd, Kenton, Jefferson, Campbell, Madison, Fayette, Daviess, Hardin, Hopkins, Christian, McCracken and Graves Counties.

MANY TAXPAYERS
MAKING ERRORS
ON TAX RETURNS

G. C. Hooks, District Director of Internal Revenue, said today that taxpayers are making a number of errors on the new streamlined form 1040. One of the main problems, Hooks advised, is that taxpayers are failing to list their dependents on Page 2. This could be the result of changing the place for listing some dependents from Page 1 to Page 2, Hooks said.

This is the largest single mistake being made by taxpayers in filing their 1961 income tax returns so far. Hooks said that if the taxpayers would read the form just "a little bit closer", many taxpayers would not have to be contacted in order to properly file their tax returns.

Hooks further stated that approximately 6 per cent of the returns being filed contain mathematical errors in addition and subtraction; that those taxpayers who are subject to self-employment tax are not listing the type of business they are in on their SE schedule which is attached to form 1040-C and 1040-F.

One other type of error that taxpayers are making is that they are listing business income on the short card Form 1040-A. Only those taxpayers who have income from salaries and other wages and not more than $200 income from dividends and interest and a total income of less than $10,000 are eligible to use the short form. However, those taxpayers who desire to claim sick pay exclusion or dividends received credit or other type exclusions should consult the Form 1040-A instructions before using this form.

REP. PERKINS PROPOSES FURTHER HELP
FROM FEDERAL GOVERNMENT FOR AREA

WASHINGTON, D. C.--Legislation to create a special Appalachian Mountain Development Program was introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives today by Congressman Carl D. Perkins.

In addition to all of the counties in eastern Kentucky, 347 counties (in all) from twelve states extending from New York to Alabama in the Appalachian Mountain area would be eligible to participate.

The program would provide Federal assistance as may be required for crop land improvement including erosion control, pasture development and drainage, development of farm water supplies, woodland improvement, revegetation of mine spoils, development of private recreational facilities and other outdoor recreation, streambank improvement, reorganization and enlargement of operating units for livestock farming and woodland enterprises, development of specialized crops such as small fruits, apples, nuts, berries, etc.

The program calls for technical assistance for farmers and other land owners to develop long range plans for water and other uses.

In addition, Perkins said the program would serve to expedite the application in the region of other resource development programs such as the Small Watershed Program, the Rural Areas Development Program, Rural Electrification, and others.

Perkins said that unusual conditions in much of the Appalachian area have prevented our national soil and water conservation program from applying fully in the area. For that reason many of the farmers and other landowners in that region have been deprived of the kind and amount of help they need in attacking their land and water problems and in achieving a better economic status.

In introducing the legislation Perkins told other members of the House that there is a precedent for the type of program he proposed for the Appalachian Region. In Public Law 1021, enacted by the 84th Congress, a similar program was authorized for the Great Plains area.
